Statement of Delivery

Compared to the original design, several changes were made to enhance the functionality and improve the users' experience.

- The background color of banner in the original design is orange rgb(255,204,0), it was changed to a background image of sunset. The reason is that makes the website more aesthetic and more passionate.

- The banner and content title were added to each content page to remind people where they are when they go to another page. Also, it improves the consistency of header and position of logo.

- The "Check Schedule" button in tour page and "Back" button in track bar of each page were removed. This is due to there already have clear links to go to schedule page and back to previous page (in track bar and footer), there is no need to put duplicate links on a page.

- When people booked their trip, now they can login with their passport number and last name to check their booking. This function was not included in original design but it is useful and necessary.

- The background color is changed from rgb(255,255,136) to rgb(255,255,185) since the original color is too dark, which distracts the user and has a negative impact on the user experience.

Description of the JavaScript elements implemented:

- On home page, an image gallery is used to display four images. The images will change automatically every 3.5 seconds. If the mouse is put on the small circle in right bottom side of gallery, the gallery will display the chosen image and will not change.
